The people of this vicinity had the privilege of hearing some well known speakers, also one of Pershing's men, who has just returned from France, at the Red Cross rally Thursday evening at the church. Private O'Neill, who left the trenches only three weeks ago, brought a message from American boys in France. He exhibited the soldier's pack, still bearing traces of trench mud, and gave an exhibition of the use of the gas mask. The audience also listened eagerly to a brief address by Judge Marvin of Hartford and to Herbert Knox Smith of Farmington. There was music by the Liberty chorale.

RECKLESS DRIVING.

Costs J. M. Burgess, of Putnam, $25 and Costs—Principal Witness Deputy Sheriff Ayer.

In the town court Monday morning Judge W. Penner Woodward imposed a fine of $25 and costs, a total of $33.50, on Jesse M. Burgess, of Putnam, who pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving of an automobile. Deputy Sheriff Charles E. Ayer, at the request of Prosecuting Attorney Arthur G. Bill, explained to the court that he had been a witness of Burgess' reckless driving, which occurred in Dayville, at the Labeled building corner, Saturday, and that other witnesses had urged him to arrest Burgess that an example might be made of someone who was driving so badly injured by such driving as he had done.

Sheriff Ayer said that Burgess' machine swung around the sharp and blind corner into the main street of the village at a speed of at least 25 miles an hour, and that in making the turn the rear wheels of the car slewed, by actual measurement, 41 inches.

A car owned and driven by Rev. Jonathan Keat, pastor of St. Joseph's church at Dayville, narrowly escaped being struck by the Burgess machine. Deputy Inspector Ralph C. Young of the automobile department, who was in court, said that Burgess had admitted to him that he had been driving 25 miles an hour as he approached the corner where the speed at the highest, it is held by those who know the corner, should not have been over ten miles an hour.

Burgess said the fine and costs, the minimum that could be imposed under the statute, and left the court room.

MEMORIAL DAY ORDERS.

Issued by Captain F. O. Armington, of Ninth Company.

Captain F. O. Armington of the Danielson State Guard Company has issued the following order to his men relative to duty Memorial Day:

1. The members of this command will assemble at the State armory at 8 o'clock, May 28, to do escort duty to the G. A. R. Roll call at one o'clock. Service uniform with blouse, trousers, gaiters, undershirt, and shoes clean, will be the bill of dress.

2. Fine if absent, $5. 3. It is necessary that every man be present at the drill this coming Tuesday night and every Wednesday night in the future, or pay the fine of one dollar or have a very good reason for being absent or stand a court martial. In the past excuses have been received and fines remitted that have kept our attendance too low, but in the future it is expected that the importance of our work as soldiers in the war situation and if not that the realization of the fact that the fine will be collected will insure a good attendance at every drill.

FOOD EXHIBIT

Proved a Revelation and Inspiration to Local Housewives.

The patriotic food exhibit held in town hall May 24th, afternoon and evening, was thoroughly appreciated by the public if it could be gauged by the enthusiasm of the numbers present and the many recipes copied. The tables were attractively decorated and so heavily laden with delicious concoctions that even Mr. Hoover would have had to acknowledge that the women of this vicinity have gone over the top in their efforts to prove that his plan of conservation was not a mere slogan, but a practical thing.

One corner of the exhibit was particularly enticing, where hot southern griddle cakes were served throughout the evening under the direction of Miss Morris, the social leader of Connecticut mills.

Two other features marked this exhibit—two table devoted exclusively to wheatless bread, cakes, pies, and etc.; the abundance and variety and appealing appearance was a surprise to all who saw and sampled them and was a convincing evidence that no one need go hungry or suffer any discomfort on a wheatless diet.

The other was devoted to conservation literature and booklets, and, showing that it was an audience seeking intelligently information along these lines.

Tables of wheat and substitutes, potatoes and their uses, meat substitutes and desserts were all alluring beyond resistance and doubtless more than one left the hall feeling hungry or suffering any discomfort on a wheatless diet.

Mrs. Rensie Robinson and her efficient committee, who exhibited a practical help to the housewives, so that the brave boys across the sea might never want bread, cakes, pies, and etc., people at home had been unmindful of their needs. The patriotic decorations of the hall and tables indicated the sympathetic cooperation of the committees in charge. No more vital war work can be done than that of conserving food, for the prosperity made by the great war is the result of the future of war, that the next war would produce a condition of world-wide famine, is now being fulfilled.

For the outlook of the world's starvation with its tragic suffering has overwhelmed the people and is slowly creeping in all parts of the civilized world. A recently returned missionary from Syria tells the horrible sight of one village, the houses all destroyed by the exception of one in the doorway of which sat a girl, looking back and forward, hisping the words "I'm so hungry, I'm so hungry."

Every housewife must wake up to the realization that this prophecy faces every nation now engaged in this war. The destiny of these nations hangs on the continued food supply in which the benevolent plays a most important part. The fine exhibit of wheat substitutes kindly loaned by Mr. Colvins of the Quinsburg store gave the housewife a large variety to choose from in her conservation of wheat and rye.

Old Folks Saved From Suffering

Mrs. Mary A. Bush, Taunton, Mass., in her 87th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam H. Hester, High Point, N. C. writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night and consider myself in a truly normal condition. I attribute this to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills two months ago, and though I am 51 years of age, I feel like a 15-year-old girl."

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and up-building, and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs.

Aimed to Enroll For Military Service. The attention of young men who are to be graduated from high schools in this section next month will be called through school officials to a government department communication in which recommendation is made that such men, intending to enter college this year, enroll for military service. At each college where at least 100 young men over 18 years of age are enrolled military instruction and military equipment will be supplied for the government.

It is not the intention of the government to call such young men to the colors before they reach the age of 21, but all who enroll will be in the military service of the United States. The government wants young men to enter the colleges and there train along technical and classical lines to perform service of a special nature for the government. They are enrolling and taking the necessary training these young men will be a highly valuable asset to the government, and they will be trained in every branch of the army service.

CLEAN-UP OF IDLERS. Local Board to Act in Seeing to It That All Are Employed and in Essential Lines.

The local board for this district has received its first inquiry relative to a change of occupation such as must come for many within a few weeks under President Wilson's proclamation into the group engaged in non-essential work shall be obliged to seek new occupation in some line that is contributing toward the winning of the war.

In this district, as in others, there is going to be a clean-up of idlers, who will be sent to camps forthwith if they are not useful and occupied, and the cases of men engaged in non-essential occupations will be individually reviewed in order to determine ready for bread and butter work.

The man who inquired yesterday is engaged as a spare bartender and for the last few days has been doing the country's military effort to win the war. He was told that he must seek other work, under the president's ruling, and he was told to go to one of the local mills as a weaver on government goods.

The local board does not intend to be unreasonable in enforcing the order, but where no hardship will be worked by applying the rule it will be generally applied and is expected to result in a large number of men in the district.

Bad Places in Highways. Automobiles are complaining that there are sections of the state highway that leads from Putnam to Cheshire, where a driver who risks turning his machine off the 18-foot sandy highway onto the sandy side ways that look secure enough to hold up a car but which, in places, are very treacherous footing for heavy machines.

Some men who have swung out wide to pass an approaching car and have gone into the ditch, have lost control of their machines and in some cases damaged them.
